

Get Involved With

Would you like to be actively involved in CBUNA? You can be part of an established professional network, gain skills as an item writer, or join a committee or taskforce for your particular CBUNA credential.

Achieving certification through CBUNA attests to your commitment to provide quality nursing care to your patients. Becoming involved with CBUNA can enhance your professional image among your colleagues and your patients. The experience will help you grow personally and professionally, subsequently making you more respected in the urologic field.

CBUNA is a certification board run by volunteers. We recognize that your time is limited and that we are only one of many organizations seeking your help and expertise. Please consider joining us as we shape the future of certification. Together we can truly make a difference and meet the challenges that lie ahead.
